Adult treatment panel-III was revised and published in 2004.[10,11] The revised ATP-III guideline was based on the review of five statin trials conducted since the release of ATP-III.[24,25,26,27,28] These trials addressed issues that were not adequately addressed in previous statin trials and forecasted important implications for the management of patients with lipid disorders, particularly high-risk patients. Hence, there was a demand to revise treatment thresholds in ATP-III guideline.
